ABSTRACT

revolutionary single piece organizer for storing or shipping objects without damaging the object. The organizer having a unitary, one piece stiff, bendable and deformable blank The blank having a bottom panel, a top having a thickness. panel, two side panels connected to each one of the top panels and the bottom panel, two end panels connected to each side panel, and at least one flap connected to each one of the top Each flap includes at least one folding and bottom panels. section separated by scoring lines. In addition, each folding section includes multiple perforations lines that can be easily The single piece organizer is assembled as a box, and broken. the flaps, when folded, will then lock the objects to be stored The configurations thus formed would prevent the or shipped. objects from moving inside the organizer. The organizer may be preformed or customized with pre-cut holes or perforations in order to secure fragile or high-priced objects or goods. addition, the present invention also refers to a portable organizer for storing or displaying objects. The revolutionary portable organizer may be integrated into a normal storage box.